

7. Social security contributions

Hong Kong does not have a mandatory system of social security contributions, except the privately managed mandatory provident fund system. Social security or social welfare benefits are basically funded from the government budget.